As a leader in your organisation, industry or community, you are well aware that “business as usual” is rapidly shifting.

Systemic changes across the world are significantly impacting our work, environment and society.

The notion of sustainability is becoming a real and increasingly compelling consideration in terms of dealing with current and future challenges to our work and interrelated ecosystems.

How do we respond as individuals, leaders and organisations to be influencers of change for the better?

Join in day of active conversations and activities with game changing leaders from around the world whose visions and actions are creating new paradigms of learning, working and living.

The objective of this International Summit is for participants to explore global perspectives in understanding the issues, be part of potential solutions and to make meaningful and valuable connections in the process.

Let us learn & collaborate together and demonstrate that collective international action with common purpose and intent not only works, but is in our mutual best interests!
